

Torrance Firm Gets Contract For Space Job

Rocketdyne, a division of Inc., Torrance, multiple contracts for electronic initiator units which employ new concepts in electronic explosives. The Fleming equipment is designed for use in the Rocketdyne H-1 liquid rocket engines of the first stage Saturn vehicle, this nation's main hope for matching and surpassing the U.S.S.R. in lifting heavy payloads into space, said Walter F. Fleming, president.

Back-to-School Shopping Lists Include Fashions

"Pencils, notebook and lots of books; handsome clothing that spell good looks"—these are the prerequisites uppermost on all Back-to-School shopping lists.

Kindergartners and lower-grade students will get off to a good start thanks to mother and dad's responsibility for proper shopping.

However, upper level students, those in junior high school, should be allowed a reasonable amount of freedom in selection of what to wear. After all they already have had "some experience."

TODAY'S HIGH school youngsters are for more mature than were their dads and mothers at their age—a result of our fast paced times.

Many of them have money they have earned themselves. Here, though parents may have to assert some discipline, respect for their attitudes is helpful and guidance and advice is called for.

Fashion collaborates in helping boys and girls to achieve the look they like—and also takes note of their new-found maturity—by providing them with a selection of clothes and style trends adopted by their college-bound brothers and sisters.

GRADE SCHOOLERS are already thinking in terms of high school and college, by choosing their wardrobes from the classic, basic, attractive dresses, suits, coats and coordinates that are now good fashion everywhere.

Styles and fabrics are teamed this fall to provide comfort and long wear as well as good looks.

ALMOST EVERY high school and college in the country has adult education courses. Classes are held also, in libraries and museums. Popular, too, with studious adults are the home correspondence courses.

It is expected that this fall between 2,000,000 and 30,000,000 American adults will be returning to school.

They are motivated by a desire to improve themselves, either economically or culturally. They study varied subjects from public speaking to philosophy, as well as arts and crafts.

INTERNATIONAL SET... Serious consideration is given to studies by representatives of four nations, all students of a single El Camino College class. They are Miss Linea Hileman, ASF student to Switzerland last fall and (l-r) Baldey S. Sekhon, India; Jimmie Wong, China, and Albert H. Emerson, former student of the Indian school at Shiprock, N.M. Berndt Lindberg, a native of Sweden, is also a student of the class.

El Camino Student Body to Boast International Flavor This Fall

When classes at El Camino College open Sept. 11, many students will experience first-hand lessons in inter-cultural relations as a supplement to regular classroom assignment.

While the great majority of Warrior students is composed of local residents, most of whom have graduated from local high schools, representatives of foreign lands and many of the 49 other states enrich cultural backgrounds of many classes.

During the summer session just completed, for example, an English class of 34 students included a visa student from India, natives of Sweden and China, an AFS student who returned from Switzerland last spring, and a full-blooded Indian, whose education was initiated at the age of 13 in the noted educational facility for Indians at Shiprock, N. M.

BALDER SEKHON, an honor student from Patista, India, entered El Camino on student visa in September 1960 as a major in engineering. He plans to continue his work at UCLA before returning to his native land to establish his own business in the field of electronics. Sekhon is eager to correct the "typical" American impression of his country, wishing Americans to know of modern developments and innovations which refute the prevalent image of tigers, sacred bulls and passe systems 2000 years old which are popularized by moving pictures.

He concedes that the Eastern part of the world is equally confused about American life. While enrolled at El Camino, he resides at 4114 Manhattan Beach Blvd., Lawndale.

JIMMIE WONG, 23, a native of Canton, China, rejoined members of his family in Inglewood after a family separation of 10 years during which time his father was in the U.S. and he, his mother, and brother were in China. His father, a restaurant worker, is a citizen of the U. S., as are both sons. The mother is currently seeking citizenship.

An electronics major, Wong will work on completion of requirements for an Associate of Arts degree at ECC. The Wongs live at 8415 La Cienega, Inglewood.

BERNDT LINDBERG, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Birger Lindberg, 1004 Prospect Hermosa Beach, will return to Sweden on completion of his work on campus, where he has been an electronics major.

During the past eight months of his nine-year stay in the United States, he put his education to use in the television industry. He has been employed by KJH-TV in the field of engineering, as a disc jockey, video technician, and assistant camera man. Among his assignments have been coverage of Pasadena's Tournament of Roses—his first—and baseball games at Wrigley Field.

On returning to Sweden, the youth will assist his grandparents on their farm in northern Sweden before continuing his education in that country.

LINEA HILEMAN, June graduate of North High School served as class valedictorian following her return from Switzerland, where she spent a semester as an American Field Service exchange student. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Hileman. Hileman is an El Camino College science instructor. They live at 17026 Yukon Ave.

"I was fortunate to have been placed in a German-speaking country," Miss Hileman says, for my college major is German and other foreign languages." The coed corresponds with European friends in Germany, Switzerland, Holland, England and France and hopes to study in Germany on completion of her work at El Camino College.

BORN ON a Navajo Indian reservation, Albert H. Emerson was raised by his grandparents following the death of his father and mother. At 13, he started school at Shiprock Boarding School 40 miles from his home. "Although I was older than the others when I started school," he says, "I considered myself very fortunate to enter school as there were several hundred children waiting for a room at the hotel, which has an enrollment of about 80."

After spending several years in various Indian schools, Emerson entered the U. S. Marine Corps, later coming to Southern California, where he completed high school requirements in night school. He lives with his wife and small child in Hawthorne.

Class in Great Novels Slated By LAHC in Fall

A class in the great novels of the eighteenth and nineteenth century, a college course with 3 units of fully transferable credit, will be offered in the evening division of Harbor College during the fall semester, according to an announcement today by Dwight Garner, chairman of the humanities division.

The class will meet Monday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 beginning Sept. 11. There is no prerequisite for the course.

Richard Parker, the instructor in the course, is a graduate of the University of Rochester and holds a master's degree in English from Columbia. Parker joined the Harbor College staff in 1959, and formerly taught at San Pedro High School.

Great novels of the 18th and 19th centuries, English 11, is designed to acquaint students with the great prose of this period and to develop an understanding of the significance of these works as well as of the ethical problems posed.

Registration for evening classes is by appointment. Application for admission to the fall semester evening college should be submitted immediately in order to obtain an appointment for registration on Aug. 22, 23, and 24. Applications for admission and registration permits can be obtained at the college admissions office.

"In the hands of Parker," commented Garner, "great novels of the 18th and 19th centuries should be an intellectually stimulating investigation of the beginning of the novel."
